CAMPUS CLIPPINGS

P. B. S.

Ten thousand congratulations and many miscellaneous felicitations to Bill Liston—the new Tennis Champ!

“Who’s that coming down the track?
Who’s that leavin’ ’em ’way back?”

It seems to be the Sophs in the recent inter-class track meet.

And then there was Pete Kleff who looked mighty lak’ John L. Sullivan in that meet.

To avoid hard feelings we must announce that the Seniors also participated in the Meet, though the score-keeper unfortunately ignored them.

The Prom is over, but some of the boys haven’t recovered yet. Financially, we mean. And while on the subject, going to the Prom is like eating onions—you have to do it in self-defense! If you don’t, those who do talk you to death about it for the next few weeks.

Society Notes

Bob Iula and some five hundred couples wishing Loyola held more Proms.

Linen knickers conspicuous by their absence.

Some prominent Loyolans went to the Circus for rest and diversion. Mr. Rob, ’31, enjoyed the elephants.

Pipe Dreams

Heard in the hall: “Stand to leeward, Dunnigan.”

If June comes, can flunks be far behind? Not at the College on the Hill.

The Chemistry Classes had their final checkups. For real skull-drudgery try to beat the student who is shy a Bunsen Burner or some other doo-hickey.

More congratulations to Bill Dunnigan, who is again coaching St. Paul’s Track Team, which team won the Parochial School Championship in 1928.

Odd as it may seem, THE GREYHOUND emits this last yelp and retires to its kennel for the dog-days. Which is a mutual, well-earned rest for both readers and editors alike. So that’s that.

TWENTY-NINE SENIORS TO RECEIVE DEGREES

Archbishop Curley Will Preside at Loyola’s 77th Commencement

On Monday evening at eight o’clock in the Alumni Gymnasium at Evergreen the seventy-seventh annual commencement of Loyola College will be held. On this night twenty-nine sons of Loyola will receive their degrees; the largest number of graduates that Loyola has ever boasted. Twenty-four will receive A. B. degrees; two, B. S. degrees and three, Ph. B. degrees.

His Grace, the Most Reverend Michael J. Curley, D. D., will preside at the Commencement Exercises and will confer the degrees and distribute the awards to those members of the Student Body who have excelled in studies and other scholastic activities. Both His Grace, the Archbishop and His Excellency, Governor Albert C. Ritchie will speak at the exercises.

Governor Ritchie will receive on this occasion from Loyola College the honorary degree of Doctor of Law. While Loyola has conferred comparatively few such degrees yet she has conferred a degree on no one more deserving and worthy of this honor than His Excellency who has won the love of many and the respect of all by his upright and judicial guidance of the State of Maryland during the past twelve years. Loyola will be ever proud to have this distinguished statesman numbered among her

ARCHBISHOP CURLEY TO BLESS LIBRARY BUILDING JUNE 10

On Monday evening, June 10th at 7:45 o’clock the recently completed Library of Loyola College will be solemnly blessed. His Grace the Most Reverend Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore, will officiate over the solemn blessing and dedication of the new building.

The Library is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Jenkins and was built as a perpetual memory in honor of his late wife. It will be recalled by all who attended the corner-stone laying last commencement that our generous benefactor, now in the exclusive class of a non-agenerian, spoke on that memorable occasion. Mr. Jenkins in his speech on that evening promised to make this new Library Building the best that money possibly could and today the stately stone building bears out the words of his promise.

The imposing ceremony will

LOYOLA TO CONFER LL. D. ON GOVERNOR

Governor Albert C. Ritchie will receive the degree of Doctor of Law from Loyola College at the Commencement Exercises to be held at Evergreen on the night of June 10th.

Albert C. Ritchie

His Excellency has ever held a warm spot in his heart for Evergreen; a fact that has been proclaimed by him in word and deed. Of late years and amid the business cares and worries of his office, Governor Ritchie has always found time to manifest his wholehearted interest in the more important activities of Loyola College.

Indeed Loyola, honoring, feels deeply honored in receiving into her Alumni so highly esteemed a friend, so renowned a statesman, so excellent a Governor. Loyola is proud of him as Governor and statesman; she is truly devoted to him as friend and Alumnus.

EVERGREEN WELCOMES YOU TO CARD PARTY ON JUNE 12

On June 12, Loyola College will hold another of those card parties by which she has gained such a wide reputation for the delightful entertainment she has afforded her patrons. No one who attended the last card party on November 27 will forget what a grand success the affair attained and what a pleasant evening all enjoyed.

For the convenience of the patrons of the card party arrangements have been made to have a bus meet the No. 11 car. This will eliminate the walk from the car to the gymnasium which has, no doubt, kept many away on former occasions.

As the party will be held two days after graduation the gym will

“TRUE THEORY OF LAW” SUBJECT OF SPEECHES

H. Meade and P. Sybert to Speak at Commencement Exercises

The speakers for Commencement are Hugh A. Meade, Salutatorian, and Philip T. Sybert, Valedictorian. The subject of their speeches: “The True Theory of Law” is a timely one, since law in one phase or other is occupying the attention of the nation from the President and his Law Investigating Committee down to the lowliest harassed juror who must decide whether one of his fellow citizens has or has not run afoul of some legislation.

Mr. Meade will discuss some modern theories of law and how far afield in their disregard the Natural Law they have led our legislators to night-stick, nagging, faddism, paternalistic, or what you will legislation.

The true philosophic basis of good law will be the burden of Mr. Sybert’s speech. Law is an ordination of reason made for the Common Good and promulgated by the legislator set over the community. It is a reasonable enactment of justly constituted authority. Positive Law has its place but it should be limited to the clarification and application of the Natural Law which in human activity is the manifestation of the Eternal Law.

REV. J. I. BARRETT TO PREACH BACCALAUREATE -- JUNE 9th

On Sunday, June 9, at St. Ignatius Church, the annual Baccalaureate sermon will be preached to the members of the graduating class by the Rev. John I. Barrett during the celebration of the Solemn High Mass. Father Barrett who received his A. B. in ’05, A. M. in ’15 and Ph. D. in ’23 from Loyola College is the Rector of St. John’s Church, Baltimore. Father Barrett’s reputation as an orator needs little comment and the Loyola graduates are indeed fortunate in the happy choice.

The Celebrant of the Mass will be the Very Reverend Harry A. Quinn of the class of ’14, rector of the Cathedral; the Deacon, the Reverend J. Joseph Egan, who received his A. B. from this college in ’21 and who is at present assistant pastor of St. Ann’s Church, Baltimore; the Sub-deacon will be Reverend Arthur A. Coniff S. J. Loyola ’22.

GRADUATION

Another year, another June, another graduating class and another farewell. A grim master and stern one is Life, and a master under whom we all must serve sooner or later. The College days that seemed so endless were but few after all, and have sped past too soon. Who is there who left them has "cast no longing, lingering look behind?" It is not easy to leave the scene of so many happy days, profitable as they were happy; nor is it easy to sever those friendships, bound together by "the tie that binds," the tie of years well spent together. Sweet as it may be, parting is never aught but sorrow.

Thus far the years have been years of training, mental and spiritual. The mind and the soul have been taught to cling to the tenets of Catholic manhood, and now these trained minds are to cope no longer with theory but with stern reality, these souls are to be girded for that long, bitter final struggle, and all that we, the undergraduates can do, is to express that same old wish, in the old way, a heartfelt, "Good Luck."

So members of the Senior Class, we wish you Godspeed, and a successful encounter with that new, that immobile master, Life.

You have our sincerest wishes for success, and we are assured that that success will not be measured in the glitter of worthless gold, nor in the glare and trumpet of fame, "shadows, not substantial things," but rather will that success be measured in the adherence to the ideals founded in every true Loyola man, the ideals of Catholic men and Catholic Gentlemen.

These words are few and are but a brief suggestion of our sentiments, but be assured that they are from our hearts, and unadorned and unpolished as they may be, they stand "to unedge the scythe of Time, that the thieving years may not harvest wholly all memory of these happy days."

OUR COACH

Walter A. Comerford has now held the Greyhound's leash for one full year and during that period except for the accounts of the various contests THE GREYHOUND has refrained from comment upon his efforts. Now however we believe that the time has come for THE GREYHOUND, in its own name and in the name of the students of Loyola, to extend to Mr. Comerford some expression of the universal appreciation of his labors during the past year.

Of the football season it is sufficient to say that with the material and such a schedule Knute Rockne could have accomplished no more. When the basketball season began Loyola had substantially the same team as in 1928 and so did her principal rivals. What then can explain her State Championship save a fighting will-to-win spirit, injected by the mentor, that enabled her team to overcome such over-whelming first-half leads and snatch so many last-minute victories from teams of greater paper-strength? And when the 'powers that be' ruled that Loyola should have no varsity nine Mr. Comerford cheerfully undertook the guidance of a raw but willing handful of Freshmen rookies and has turned out a yearling club of which Loyola has full many a reason to be proud.

But that is not all. Of paramount importance has been Mr. Comerford's interest in and encouragement of intra-mural sport activities. We can not remember one interclass basketball game that he missed and all recall his work on the track meet. Sophomore-Freshmen football and baseball games he made real contests by his masterful conduction. Under his tutelage interclass athletics at Loyola have advanced more in a single year than in any five before his advent.

Loyola appreciates your work of the past year, Mr. Comerford, and many more pleasant and successful seasons at Evergreen with you at the leash is the earnest and sincere wish of all her sons and friends, who promise you unflinching backing and enthusiastic support for the years to come—may they be many and long.

George C. Jenkins

Our Generous Benefactor

It has often been remarked that all Jesuit colleges have a comparatively short period of infancy while their growth to maturity is of rapid progression. That such be a truth of universal application is our prayer. That such can be applied to Loyola College of Evergreen years is happily quite evident.

One of the outstanding figures in the rapid advancement of Loyola College, Evergreen, is that of Mr. George C. Jenkins, Loyola's greatest benefactor and ardent admirer. Mr. Jenkins has looked with kindly eye and generous heart upon Loyola College, Evergreen, since its very birth. It is through the generosity of Mr. Jenkins that Loyola to-day can boast of a science building whose beauty and equipment are unsurpassed in the State of Maryland.

Beneficent Interest

But Evergreen's period of infancy was comparatively short and her growth to maturity has been of rapid progress. Loyola had quickly outgrown the accommodations afforded by the George C. Jenkins' Science Building. No one was quicker to observe this than was Mr. Jenkins—no one happier in the observation; and his generous heart was first to seek a remedy.

Last June, when the "fare-thee-wells" of twenty-two more Loyola men were still heavy on the summer evening air, Mr. Jenkins stood with hat in hand, with His Grace, His Excellency, and the Loyola Faculty on his right, the cornerstone of the new Library building on his left, close to his big heart, and hundreds of Loyola's friends before him, and he delivered a speech which raised high the hopes of Loyola's ardent listeners. He would raise up another structure and neither money nor energy would be spared. It would be the gift of and in memory of his dearly beloved and lately deceased wife, Kate Key Jenkins and himself. And to-day, just one year later, the words of Mr. Jenkins are crystallized in the beauty and grace of "Loyola Library, gift of Kate Key and George C. Jenkins." And now, thanks to the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Jenkins, Loyola can continue her growth to maturity and rapid progression.

A Lasting Tribute

Who can compute the real value of such gifts? Who can reckon the innumerable benefits which will follow them down through the ages to be heaped upon those young men who shall have been educated within these walls? With the name of Loyola will always be closely linked the names of George C. Jenkins, her Paternal Benefactor and Kate Key Jenkins, his beloved wife, and the stately structures of stone will stand forever expressing the kindness of their hearts, their regard for Catholic education, their thoughtfulness of youth and their homage to God.

NEW LOYOLA LIBRARY

After months of anxious waiting, the new Library is at last a reality. As we view the edifice from the distance, its marble walls outlined against the background of evergreens, the portals decorated with artistic lanterns, the huge doors of bronze, we are impressed with the majesty and dignity of the work.

On closer approach the grey marble walls are seen to be buttressed and trimmed in limestone and as we pause in front of the building our eyes are invariably directed to the frieze above the main entrance, which faces the quadrangle. There carved in everlasting stone is the Loyola seal and the inscription "Kate Key and George C. Jenkins."

Opening the heavy bronze doors we enter the vestibule. Here the beautifully panelled walls and arching ceiling remind one of the impressive entrance to a cathedral of old. Before us is the artistic stairway to the upper floors while to left and right stretches the arched corridor leading to well-lighted elegantly appointed rooms.

The vestibule is flanked on both sides by spacious rooms which will soon be occupied as offices, while at the east end is a single large room across the entire width of the building. This spacious room will afford ample space for the largest class and abundant light is admitted through the wide windows which look out on three sides.

Mounting the central staircase which winds from the vestibule to the third floor, we stop at the second floor. The floor plan of this is similar to that of the first floor and will furnish class rooms for the students of the Bachelor of Arts Course. This floor contains four moderately sized rooms situated on either side of the corridor and in the east end another large room exactly like the one on the first floor is placed from which a fine view of the athletic field can be obtained.

The library itself, reading and assembly room, is located on the top floor of the building. This comprises of one single large room the entire length and breadth of the building which answers the purpose of both library and assembly room. This room is beautifully furnished and overhead the ceiling is artistically panelled in hard wood and decorative plastering while all four sides afford an excellent view of the campus.

The basement is well arranged with a large recreation room, lunch counter, telephone booths and locker rooms. Another room contains the oilburning heating plant which will supply heat to the building through the cold months of winter. At the west end of the library is a second stairway to facilitate the handling of class dismissals.

In every respect the new library promises to furnish the students with the most modern and up-to-date conveniences.

ALUMNI NOTES

Alumnus Answers

Last issue THE GREYHOUND requested information regarding several Alumni. Here are some excerpts from a reply by Mark O. Shriver:—

"Information as to William S. Tonry can be had from Dr. Reginald I. Tonry—his son, I believe—who can be found almost any morning at seven o'clock—or earlier—somewhere in the gospel aisle of St. Ignatius' church."

"Gus Barrett has been in the diplomatic—or consular—service and is hanging around town again. I see him occasionally on the street."

"Tell Ike George that 'Hie'—Robert Hickley—Shriver died from the effects of gas wounds received in the Argonne."

"Pete Callahan is an engineer with offices in a western division of the Pennsylvania—maybe he will help with the Calvert street terminals'".

Thomas Keelan

Thomas Aquin Keelan, A. B. 1913, is now performing the duties of Building and Equipment Engineer with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company at Charlestown, West Virginia.

First Mass

Reverend Francis A. Sheurich, '25, celebrated his first High Mass at St. James' Church, Baltimore, on May 26. Many old friends were present at the mass and at the breakfast that followed.

Father Sheurich was one of the first priests ordained by Bishop Hafey in the cathedral of his new see at Raleigh.

Congratulations, Father Sheurich, and many happy and successful years in the Carolinas.

EXCHANGE CLIPPINGS

High ranking juniors and seniors have been granted the privilege of unlimited cuts for the rest of the year at Yale University.

The editor of the Campus publication and a faculty member at Wittenburg College both claimed there were 24 letters in the English alphabet. Relatively perfect when compared to the answer of 18 submitted by a football star.

The University of Texas goes one better than any of the special courses being offered in various colleges by inaugurating a course in the proper manner of sleeping.

Loyola News, Chicago, had a recent issue dedicated to the promotion of college aviation.

The latest is a Dating Bureau at the University of Washington. Card Indexes of available eds and co-eds bring the necessary results.

The Villanovan, Villanova College, is printed in blue ink following out the school colors of Blue and White. Will Hopkins follow suit?

We read in the University of California's "Pelican" that a well-dressed collegiate's shirts became too small about the neck. He wore them unbuttoned. A few weeks later ever prep student had followed his example as a style.

Tomahawk at Holy Cross College gives the following advice to chemists—"To remove nitric acid stains—use a scissors."

"Chesterfield preferred!"

The story is told that a certain man once importuned a famous financier for a loan involving a considerable amount of money. "I cannot give you the cash," the magnate is said to have replied, "but I'll let you walk arm in arm with me across the floor of the Stock Exchange."

Pardon our enthusiasm, but it's a good deal like that with a man and his cigarette. To be seen smoking a Chesterfield, for example, is to be marked as a gentleman, a scholar, and a judge of good tobacco!

Kentucky Colonel or swashbuckling corporal in the Royal Mounted—Wall Street magnate or dashing cowman of Cheyenne—a Chesterfield smoker is entitled to respect (and yes, even credit!) from his fellows.

Go where you will, you'll find Chesterfield everywhere admitted to the inner circle of those in the know. Such endorsement was earned—by good tobacco and taste—with six million voting.

SOPHOMORES GAIN VICTORY IN INTERCLASS TRACK MEET

On Thursday, May 16th, Evergreen Field was the scene of the Interclass Track and Field Meet and the hardy gladiators of the various classes assembled to decide whose brow the olivaceous chaplet should grace. But at the first crack of Coach Comerford's revolver a Sophomore typhoon swept the field and did not cease until it had left the others in so many windrows.

An idea of the completeness of the holocaust may be gained from the fact that the Rhetoricians yielded only one first place and that to Rentzell of the Frosh. The final count, on the 5-3-1 basis, was, Sophs 66, Frosh 10, Juniors 7.

The first event was the 100-yard dash which went to Frank Sanders of the Sophs, his classmate Joe Sadusk placing second and "Paavo" Enders nosing out Pete Kleff of Junior by the length of a millimeter, for third place. Time 10.6 sec.

"Joe" Saduck and Leo Nelson of Sophomore and Marino Intrieri of Junior placed first, second and third respectively in the 12-lb. shotput. Distance 39 ft. 7 in.

"Joe" Sadusk chalked up another victory in the high jump while Harry Green placed second and Ed. Judge third, thus making another clean sweep for the Sophs. Height 4 ft., 10½ inches.

The next event was the mile run which was captured by "Paavo" Enders, the Sophomore long distance artist. Phil Smith finished second and Willie Houchens of the Frosh nosed out "Bullet" Dunningan for third, to narrowly avert another clean sweep by the Sophs. Time 5 min., 15 sec.

Sanders, Nelson and Sadusk finished first, second and third, respectively in the running broad jump to give the Sophs another complete triumph. Distance 18 ft. 5 in. Saunders, Sadusk and Enders repeated the feat in the 220-yd. dash.

The 880-yard relay was won by the Sophomore aggregation, composed of Sanders, Groening, Green and Enders. Rentzell of Freshman finally halted the onslaught of the second year men when he broke the taps for first place in the 440-yard run. Endres and Patrick

FROSH BASEBALL TEAM DOWNS SCHOLASTIC CHAMPIONS 4-3

On May 25 the yearlings added another scalp to their belt of victories when they dragged Calvert Hall into camp at the end of a 4-3 score.

Curtis pitched big league ball, retiring thirteen via the teaser route, and allowing but four clean hits—the others being of the scratch variety.

Loyola got to Reilly in the first on Novak's walk and steal and Curtis' double. The Cardinals tied the count in the fourth when a double by Reitz and an error by Dudley on Brockmeyer's long fly filled third and second. Baier then attempted a squeeze but Alminde tagged Reitz at the plate only to allow Brockmeyer to score on a wild throw to third. The Greyhounds regained the lead in the fifth on a single by Simms, Thomen's walk and singles by Novak and McCormick netted two runs. Loyola garnered a lone tally in the eighth on Dudley's double, Simms' single and a passed ball by Reiter. Calvert Hall strove mightily to tie the score in both the sixth and ninth but a double and a sacrifice by Brockmeyer, two singles by McCarron, one by Reitz and one in the ribs by Welsh netted but a sole counter in each inning.

Simms starred at bat with a perfect day and Brockmeyer, with two doubles, shone for the Cardinals. Reilly struck out seven in five innings and Toy four in three. Alminde and Dudley of the varsity squad played for the Freshmen in the absence of two of the regular players.

however, added the remaining tallies to the Sophomore cause.

The victory of the Sophomores was due in a great measure to the interest which they have shown in track this year, especially Sanders, Sadusk and Endres who have been training hard all season. They were amply rewarded for their efforts however in becoming the high point scorers in the meet.

The great number of entries in the meet and the earnestness which the participants displayed in their events speak well for the prospects of a varsity track team next year. Incidentally we are pleased to say that the meet brought to light some excellent material.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT FINALS WON BY "BIG BILL" LISTON

The final round of the Loyola Tennis Tournament was played on Friday, May 17, before an interested gallery of students. The finalists were Liston, who had survived the upper bracket by defeating Rozea 6-3, 7-5 and E. Judge, who had triumphed over Nelson in a gruelling semi-final match to the tune of 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Liston, the defending champion of last year, won the match in successive sets 6-1, 6-3; a score which gives but little indication of the interest of the encounter. The exhibition was probably the best witnessed on the Loyola courts this year. The two contestants matched stroke for stroke and strategy with strategy. Liston's prowess in lobbing kept Judge well back in the court, while he himself advanced to the net on several occasions for kills. Judge, on the other hand, displayed an accuracy with his drive that enabled him to clip the side-lines for many points. The match was featured by several long rallies and remarkable recoveries, with few purely defensive shots.

Liston, on the whole, displayed superior control and power, especially on the back hand, while Judge's serve, which was somewhat erratic, contributed in a large measure to his defeat.

LOYOLA TENNIS TEAM DEFEATS CHINESE CLUB OF HOPKINS

On May 18th, Loyola tennis team broke their losing streak when they played host to the Chinese Club of Johns Hopkins University.

The Greyhounds had to fight for every single point. The visitors were especially fast afoot, which enabled them to be all over the court and to make some remarkable recoveries of Loyola's well-timed and well-placed shots. However the steady brilliant tennis of the Greyhounds was never able to be matched by the visitors and they returned to Homewood with only one match to their credit.

In the singles Liston, playing number one for Loyola, easily defeated C. Kao, 6-0; 6-2. E. Judge succeeded in winning from C. K. Wu but only after a hard struggle. L. Nelson had little trouble with K. C. May, winning his match 6-1; 6-0; but Rozea faced a formidable opponent in B. S. Tang. Tang captured the first set 8-6 but Rozea steadied and annexed the final two 6-4, 7-5. In the final match the visitors were saved from a shut out when Y. C. Yin defeated Patrick 6-0, 6-2.

In the doubles Liston and Judge were teamed and they defeated Y. C. Yin and B. S. Tang 6-3, 8-6. In the final match of the afternoon Nelson and Rozea, Loyola's other doubles team, defeated K. C. May and C. Kao after a stern struggle 6-1, 6-0.
